

Classics Courses for Spring 2010

Undergraduate

CLA 2032-001: Classical Mythology

Dr. David Califf

M 6:10-8:50

The myths, legends and folklore of the Greeks and Romans as they developed in their life, thought and literature; their influence on the Renaissance and modern times. Fulfills Advanced Literature requirement in the Core Curriculum.

CLA 3040-001: Studies in the Classics

Dr. Gary Meltzer

TR 2:30-3:45

Selected themes of special interest. Topics vary according to interests of students and instructor: e.g. Women in the Classical World, Slavery in the Ancient World, Classical Rhetoric, etc. Fulfills Advanced Literature requirement in the Core Curriculum.

GRK 5850-001: Greek Tragedy

R 6:10-8:50

Brian Satterfield

Selected plays, read and interpreted in the light of contemporary Greek institutions and thought, with attention to their poetic and dramatic structure. Fulfills Advanced Literature requirement in the Core Curriculum.

LAT 1112-001/002: Introductory Latin II

Kostas Petropoulos

MWF 10:30-11:20, 11:30-12:20

Basic forms, syntax and vocabulary; selected Latin prose in second semester.

LAT 1122-001/002: Intermediate Latin II

Dr. Valentina DeNardis

MW: 1:30-2:45, 3:00-4:15

Review of Latin syntax, selected readings from prose.

LAT 3001-001: Readings in Authors

Kostas Petropoulos

MWF 1:30-2:20

Selected readings from a variety of Latin authors. Fulfills Advanced Literature requirement in the Core Curriculum.

Graduate Courses

GRK 8550-001: Greek Tragedy

R 6:10-8:50

Brian Satterfield

Selected plays, read and interpreted in the light of contemporary Greek institutions and thought, with attention to their poetic and dramatic structure.

LAT 8001-001: Directed Readings

Dr. James Finn

T 5:20-7:20

A critical reading of extensive selections from the Eclogues, Georgics, and Aeneid of Virgil in their historical contexts.

LAT 9851-001: Seminar

Dr. Gary Meltzer

W 5:20-7:20