

Gender and Women's Studies General Contact Information

Women's Studies just changed its name to Gender and Women's Studies!

This change will broaden the program's curriculum and programming while allowing students and faculty alike to critically examine the role of gender on campus and in the world.

*Gender and Women's Studies
Minor/Concentration*

To register for a Minor or a Concentration in Gender and Women's Studies, please complete the bottom section and return it to Gender and Women's Studies. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact Dr. Catherine Kerrison, Director of Academics for Gender and Women's Studies at 610-519-3815, Old Falvey 206D.

The Gender and Women's Studies program is an interdisciplinary program providing courses and a minor and concentration in Gender and Women's Studies. It is open to all students in all degree programs. Identifying gender as fundamental to the way men and women understand themselves, Gender and Women's Studies causes us to rethink history and culture.

The academic discipline of Gender and Women's Studies continues to transform scholarship and basic assumptions in all areas of the humanities, social sciences and the professions.

MINOR: The minor in Gender and Women's Studies requires students to take a total of 6 courses, including GWS 2050 - Introduction to Gender and Women's Studies, and GWS 5000 - Integrating Seminar, which is taken as a culminating course.

CONCENTRATION: The concentration requires a total of 8 courses, including GWS 2050 and GWS 5000.

Introduction to Gender and Women's Studies is offered every fall semester, and the Integrating Seminar is offered every spring. Other courses for the GWS minor or concentration may be taken in a variety of departments, reflecting the interdisciplinary nature of gender and women's studies, as long as they are designated with the Gender and Women's Studies attribute (a partial list appears below) on the NOVASIS Master Schedule and/or approved by the Academic Director of the Gender and Women's Studies program.
